

Carestream Molecular Imaging introduces the Albira, a revolutionary new PET/SPECT/CT system specifically for small animal imaging. It is one of the smallest tri-modal systems available. It can be purchased in six configurations, so researchers can purchase only what they need today, then easily upgrade as requirements change. The Albira also features a modular architecture that introduces a patented single-crystal detector and electronics for rapid acquisition and reconstruction of highly resolved quantitative PET and SPECT images.

Company: Carestream Molecular Imaging